Saturday this recently organized team will cross bats with the Los Angeles city employes. Thanksgiving afternoon our Tropico team will enter a warmly contested combat for honors with the Westerners, formerly the Capt. Lyons team. This team has a remarkable record and a fine game is promised.

CONSTANTINO WILL SING AT GLENDALE NOV. 25 PALACE GRAND

Every energy possible is being put forth by the ladies of the music section of the Tuesday Afternoon Club t omake the coming Constantino concert a success. To think that this man who can demand $1000 per night is happily giving his beautiful voice to song for the benefit of little children, whom he dearly loves. Much credit should be given Mrs. E. W. Kinney, music curator of the club, in being able to secure such an attraction, and all Glendale should show its appreciation by turning out to further the end in the name of sweet charity toward the little ones.

Members who are untiring in their efforts are Mesdames E. W. Kinney, curator; F. F. Balthis, secretary; J. E. Newcomb, Frank Arnold, A. L. Bryant, Le Roy W. Bosserman, David Black, H. L. VERNON B. GAMMEL

Street, Tropico, died at his home Tuesday, Nov. 16. He was 34 years of age, having been born Nov. 4, 1881. Mr. Gammel, who was married, had resided six years in California and one year in Glendale. Deceased was an expert switchboard man in the employment of the Sunset Telegraph company in Los Angeles. The funeral was held from the Pulliam Funeral parlors, Friday, Nov. 19, at 3:30 p. m. The brethren of the local Masonic lodge attended and held the usual service at the grave, in Forest Lawn. The deceased had been a member of the Masonic lodge in Marion, Mo.

Merrill Burke, the noted coronettst and assistant director of the Tropico Concert band, has succeeded to the position of director of this new musical organization of which Tropico is so justly proud. The band boys meet every Friday evening in the city hall. All interested in the success of the band and all desiring to join this musical aggregation are urged to be present Friday evening.

The baseball team of the Ceritos street school and the team from the Park Avenue School are playing a world series game on the municipal playground baseball diamond. Four games are the result of this friendly rivalry, resulting in a tie. The fifth game is awaited with much interest and anxiety on the part of all participants.

ELKS MEMORIAL SERVICES TO BE HELD DECEMBER 5TH

Sunday, December the 5th, is Memorial Day, and exercises will begin promptly at 2 p. m., at the Palace Grand Theater. The members will meet in the lodge room at 1:30 and march in a body to the theater. This is the greatest day in Elkdom. On that day, wherever floats the American flag, services are held for the brothers who have passed away. On that day the universal charity, that is the keynote of the Fraternity of Elks, is uplifted, glorified and reinstated more firmly in the hearts of members and spectators alike. Solemnity, ceremony, speech and song make this day impressive, but nothing lifts the sentiment higher than the spontaneous response fro mthe members that fill the audience. To them this day is the apex of the year.

F. Snyder will deliver the Memorial address. Mr. Snyder is a Past Exalted Ruler, also a Past D. D. G. E. R. The eulogies will be delivered by William C. Wattles. The members to have the eulogies pronounced for are William Herman West (our beloved Bill), N. Henry Nolen, and L. A. Fargo.

BALL GAME THANKSG'V'G

The Tropico team will play the Center team of Los Angeles, Thanksgiving afternoon, instead of the Westerners. The Center team, which has but recently organized, was formerly the Tuft's and Lyon's team. The line-up of this new team is Thomas, center field; Dashond, catcher; Leger, left field; Howard, right field; Apis, third base; Pinove, second base; Le Rock, pitcher; Grayson, shortstop. Le Rock is a professional pitcher and a lively game is expected. Tropico's line-up includes some of the best baseball fans in the entire valley: Will Marple, pitcher; Olin Bradford, center; Lewis Baker, fist base; Al Gabaig, second base; Hasty Bidwell ,third base; Tadford, left field; Charles Flanders, center field; Morse, right field.

Mrs. Edward Gleason entertained very charmingly with a pleasant afternoon at her home, 650 East Acacia Avenue, last Thursday. Twelve ladies responded to the invitation to enjoy the afternoon with Mrs. Gleason and while they were busily engaged in fashioning many pretty conceits for Christmas and the merry Yuletide, they also enjoyed merry conversation and music. The rooms of Mrs. Gleason's delightful home were aglow with the choicest of autumn's brilliant offering. A large bowl overflowing with scarlet geraniums centered the table, at which generous hospitality was dispensed later in the afternoon.

Mrs. John A. Lough, 919 Glendale Avenue, Tropico, passed away suddenly last Tuesday week at her home. Mrs. Lough, wife of Mr. John A. Lough, engineer for the Misison Land Company, San Fernando, has been a great sufferer from tuberculosis during the past few years and had greatly failed within the past few months. Mr. Lough was out visiting friends and left his wife in her usual health. When he returned at 10:30 p. m. he found her dead. Dr. Bryant was called and found life extinct. The body was taken to the Jewel City Undertaking Parlors. nlterment was at Forest Lawn today (Friday).

Of much interest is the Girls' indoor ball team, which has been playing an animated and lively game with the girls of the intermediate school of Glendale, resulting in the girls of the Tropico team winning two out of three games. The battery of the Tropico team is composed of Martha Fishel and Irene Rich, which means success for the local team, as these young enthusiastic players bear the record of making a run eevry inning.

The Temporary Quarters of a Football Man

By DWIGHT NORWOOD

Johnny Hackaway was an athlete and a football enthusiast. He played a match game on the last day in November, in which he carried his team through on his own shoulders and so excited their gratitude that they carried him on their own shoulders. So interested had he been in the coming game that he slept but little the night before from thinking of it and after it was over went home late from talking of it.

It was midnight when Johnny passed a house which was being moved from one side to another and which occupied nearly the entire width of the street. So dead tired and sleepy was he that he was tempted to go no farther, but climb to the front door, effect an entrance and find a resting place for the night. But, having not much farther to go, he trudged on till he reached his home. Feeling for his door key, he remembered that he was in football togs, with no pockets and consequently no key.

Knowing that there was no one inside within sound of the bell, he went back to the house on blocks, but found it locked. He broke a pane of glass, put in his hand and opened the window. Inside he found matches and, scratching one, saw that the house was being moved with some of the furniture left in it. A lamp stood on a table, which he lighted, then went upstairs. On the top floor he found a bed that suited him and, throwing himself on it, was asleep in two minutes.

It was 1 o'clock on Saturday morning when Johnny sank to slumber. When he awoke he heard church bells ringing. He rubbed his eyes and looked out through a window. The surroundings were not what they were when he had gone to bed. There was a church opposite, and there had been only dwellings. Moreover, persons were going into the church with prayer books in their hands.

There was a sound of dainty footsteps on the stairs, and the door was opened. A girl, evidently preoccupied, came in and for a moment didn't notice Johnny. When she did she gave a cry and made for the door. Johnny stopped her.

"Will you kindly tell me what day this is?" he asked.

As soon as the girl could find her voice she told him it was Sunday. Noticing that he was in football costume, she concluded that he was not a burglar and became more composed.

"I reckon," he continued, "that I have slept about thirty hours. I entered this house when it was on Hinton street, and now it seems to be somewhere else. How did you get into it?"

"We came in last night after the house was put on the lot. We belong here."

"And slept in it all night?"

"Yes. We didn't need to use this room and didn't come up here."

"Well, I'll be jinged!"

"You're John Hackaway, the great football player, aren't you?"

"I'm Hackaway and I play football. How did you know that?"

"I saw you play in the big game the day before yesterday. You were splendid. I shouted myself hoarse when they carried you off the gridiron on their shoulders. Won't you come down to breakfast? We're late this morning. We didn't get settled very early last night."

"You're very kind. I invited myself to a bed; I won't sponge on you for breakfast."

But the girl had gone to the door and shouted:

"Mother, Mr. Hackaway, the great football player, is up here. I'm going to bring him down to breakfast."

Johnny listened for the reply. It was this:

"Oh, my, goodness gracious! I knew that would be the result of her infatuation. Pa, Molly's gone crazy over football. Go up and bring her down. Quick! Maybe she'll jump out the window."

John and the girl laughed, and John proposed that he go downstairs and show himself. So she led the way to the main floor, where a woman was in the kitchen frying griddlecakes. When she saw the football giant she dropped the turner and cried out:

"Oh, dear! Have I gone daft too?"

Molly went into the kitchen, and between her fits of laughing John heard her tell her mother what had happened, adding, "Just think, ma, what an honor—to have such a wonderful man for a guest and not know it!"

"And give him a ride to boot," remarked John.

An introduction to the members of the family followed, and presently they all sat down to breakfast.

"Fine location," remarked John, feeling somewhat embarrassed at breakfasting under such circumstances with strangers.

"We think we'll like it," was the reply.

"Much finer than the one from which you came."

Molly snickered.

John could have eaten all there was on the table, but he contented himself with his share, remembering that he could piece it out in a couple of hours with dinner.

The rest of this story occupied several years, or, rather, a lifetime, for John and Molly. John was invited to come again now that they were settled, and he availed himself of the invitation. The old folks are dead, and John and Molly, his wife, occupy the house.

Was It Spirit Or Illusion?

By F. A. MITCHEL

There is nothing so strong in nature as the chains that draw two persons together, and nothing better typifies it than two vines that originally could have been broken apart by a child's delicate fingers, each becoming after a lapse of, say, half a century as large as an athlete's biceps and much harder to bend.

The most remarkable case of this kind came under my observation. I will relate the story.

Donald Gregory, when he was too young to remember the fact, became a playmate of a little girl about his own age, Ella Marston. Their parents' places were side by side, and the children, neither having brother or sister, were together all day. Then they went to the same kindergarten and afterward to the same school. Their first and only separation was when Donald went to college. They pined for each other, and he neglected his studies to write her long letters, receiving equally long replies. When the first examinations came on, though a bright fellow, he failed. This ended his college career. He returned to his love and was never again separated from her till half a century later, when death claimed her.

They were married when the groom was nineteen, the bride eighteen. A son was born to them and a daughter. The former lived; the latter died in infancy. Till the son came to manhood he remained with his parents. Then he broke away to engage in business at another location.

Even in their youth they had few intimate associates and after coming to middle age dropped away from anything social. Those who knew them wondered at this, for they were both attractive and popular. Efforts to get them into social undertakings always failed.

Mrs. Gregory died at seventy. It was a year after this that I made the acquaintance of their son, now a man of nearly fifty. Strange it is that with his parents' happy married life before him he never married. When his mother died he persuaded his father to come to live with him. I had made George Gregory's acquaintance some time before this, and when his father appeared on the scene George and I, both bachelors, were intimate, I being at his house frequently.

When I was introduced to his father I saw a handsome old gentleman with a florid complexion and white hair and mustache. It struck me that if I were a woman I would fall in love with him no matter what was his age. George told me of the close relationship between his father and his late mother, and when the latter died he feared his father would lose his reason. But his father seemed to settle down to an acceptance of his fate and in a measure apparently ceased to grieve. His son noticed something about him which he communicated to no one. I discovered it for myself.

One day when going to George Gregory's house I saw his father putting his night key into the door. He opened it, stepped back as if waiting for some one to enter, then went in himself. The matter made but little impression on me till later I heard the old gentleman talking to himself in the library. At first, thinking that he was reading aloud, I permitted myself to overhear him. I soon became aware that he was talking to some one whom he called "my dear." The two episodes together set me to wondering, and I narrated them to his son. George sighed and said:

"So you have noticed it. I have known that of which you have seen evidence ever since father came to live with me. He ever has my mother with him—just how I don't know. Whether he sees her spirit, whether he fancies that it is present with him, whether he hears her replies when he talks to her—all this is a puzzle to me. I have often heard him talking to her as you heard him, and he says the same things to her that he was used to saying while she lived, only they are more endearing. He was always during her life as gallant to her as when they were young lovers, and when he fancies she is with him he will not sit while she stands, will not go through a doorway without waiting till she has gone before him. I have seen him come into the house after having been out of an evening and remove her wraps as tenderly as he ever did while she was with him in the flesh. He had a way of sometimes walking with her hand in hand, and since her death I have often seen him swinging his arm through the empty air as I often saw him do it when I was a boy."

"Do you observe," I asked, "whether after apparently being with her he is more or less gloomy?"

"He is never what we call gloomy, though there is a certain sadness always in his eyes. It seems to me that Providence, in whose sight such loverlike lives as were his and my mother's must be acceptable, has made some physical change in his brain which causes an illusion to comfort him till the day shall come when he will be reunited to her."

"Did it ever occur to you," I asked, "that the strong affection between him and your mother has enabled him to see and commune with her spirit?"

"It has," was the reply, "but I don't know."

Since then the same door has closed behind Donald Gregory that closed behind his wife.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured
by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.
We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

The members of the "Mothers' Club" of the Acacia Street School of Tropico, and more especially the officers, wish to take this way to thank the many outsiders who so courteously assisted in making their bazar a grand success. Because it was to procure a piano for the little tots, everyone seemed more than anxious to do anything in their special line. A decorator from Los Angeles contributed his services and innumerable flags made the two rooms resplendent and gay.

Beeman & Hendee were instrumental in getting the doll for the ladies, which was raffled off at ten cents a chance.

And special praise must be given the chairman of the bazar committee, Mrs. Strong, and the president, Mrs. Todd, whose combined efforts and many hours of hard labor have resulted in netting the club about $70.

Dr. Phelps has located in Torpico for the practice of his profession. He is a graduate of the American School of Osteopathy in 1905, also a nine months' post-graduate in 1910; also a graduate in special diagnosis, for which he holds a special diploma unanimously voted him by the members of the A. S. O. faculty in 1910, after the completion of his studies in 1910. This special diploma was the first ever issued to an osteopath and is very highly prized by the doctor.

Dr. Phelps has been in practice in other parts of California—Palo Alto and San Diego—since April, 1905, and has earned an enviable record.

The doctor has proven again that osteopathy is applicable in all forms of disease, giving quick relief where other methods fail. He does not claim that osteopathy will cure all ills, but that it is a great aid to nature.—Adv.

SOPHISTRY wasn't wiped off the map of reasoning over 2,000 years ago, although it certainly deserved to be.

The Sophists in ancient Greece, you remember, taught a false philosophy of life and things, their premises being based on fallacy. They tried to make two plus two equal three.

The Sophists are not all dead. A few thrive today. They argue of newspaper advertising:

"Oh, I never buy anything widely advertised or patronize merchants who make a splash in the newspapers. Their articles are either inferior or more costly because they have to include the cost of advertising."

BOSH!

As a matter of fact, advertising enables you to buy BETTER things at CHEAPER prices. Through advertising the sales are INCREASED ten, twenty, fifty fold. The manufacturer or merchant is thus able to sell BETTER and CHEAPER goods and still pay for his advertising.

This recognized BUSINESS FACT is backed up by the experience of successful business men of this community and by wise home providers who closely watch the ads. in this paper.

A Mortal Insult.

THE VALUE OF SALT IN THE BATHROOM.

Salt is not only a necessity in the kitchen, but it will work wonders in the bathroom. It is the cheapest and best of nerve tonics and the finest of skin lotions. Salt is to beauty in the bathroom just what it is to food in the kitchen. In fact, it is the solution offered by nature to most of our beauty and health queries.

Every one has heard of the splendid strengthening effects of salt water bathing, but few think of taking salt water baths in their own tubs. Sea salt can be bought in any drug store, and a large bag should be kept on hand in the bathroom.

When you come home tired out and nervous try a salt bath. You will find it invaluable for weakness and nervousness, and you will find that a month of the home salt bath treatment will take away all traces of that "tired feeling." In fact, the woman who bathes in salt water two or three times a week feels too vigorous and strong ever to know that tired sensation.

If the skin on the face or throat is flabby you will find a salt massage of the greatest benefit. This will make the skin firm and strong. Just take a half handful of salt and rub it into the skin—not too hard, for the roughness of the salt will redden and irritate the flesh, but gently and evenly. After a soft but thorough salt massage wash the face off with cold water.

The action of the salt, whether used dry or in the bath, is to enliven the circulation and to stimulate the nerves. This in turn makes the skin clearer, the color better and the general surface firmer and smoother.

Salt as a tooth powder is also at its best, for it whitens the teeth and hardens the gums.

When salt is such an aid to health and beauty and is so very cheap every bathroom should hold it.

FALL CANNING.

Practical Hints on How to Preserve Fresh Fruits.

Generally speaking, preserving means the cooking of fruits in an equal weight of sugar, long enough for the fruit to keep without being air tight. Canning may be done with little or no sugar and just enough cooking to thoroughly heat the fruit, but air must be excluded.

The same general directions apply to each process.

Needed Articles.—Granite or porcelain lined kettles or stewpans, with bales or handles and lips for convenience in pouring.

Perhaps the two quart size is most used, but if one can afford it several sizes will be found very convenient.

A small, sharp steel paring knife or, better still, a silver plated fruit knife ground down to a fine edge, expressly for fruit paring. Other necessary articles — wooden spoons — some with slits, a wire spoon, silver spoons, large and small, a skewer, scales for weighing, a hair sieve, a tin strainer and a supply of cheesecloth.

Preparation.—Observe utmost cleanliness of hands, utensils and fruit. Avoid anything that tends to lessen color or flavor. Use only sound fruits and vegetables. Clean and scald jars and covers. Use new rubbers every season.

Blackberries.—Half cupful sugar to each pint jar, boil ten minutes.

Currants.—Three-fourths cupful sugar to each pint jar, boil ten minutes.

Huckleberries.—One-half cupful sugar to each pint jar, boil ten minutes.

Pineapples.—One-half cupful sugar to each pint jar, boil ten minutes.

Pears.—One-half cupful sugar to each pint jar, boil ten minutes.

Apricots.—One-half cupful sugar to each pint jar, boil five minutes.

Peaches.—One-half cupful sugar to each pint jar, boil ten minutes.

Cranberries.—One cupful sugar to each pint jar, boil forty-five minutes.

Crabapples. — Three-fourths cupful sugar to each pint, boil thirty minutes.

How to Utilize Odd Bits of Soap You Have Saved.

Save the odd bits of toilet soap, the more expensive and highly perfumed ones as well as the ivory. When you have a good collection let them simmer in a little water on the back of the stove. When quite dissolved add violet water or any desired perfume and a few drops of lemon juice. Pour into desired mold and allow to harden. A delightful perfumed soap will be the result. Treat all bits of yellow common kitchen soap by themselves. You will be surprised to see how much good soap you would have wasted had you thrown away the useless bits.

How to Cure Freckles and Not Injure Skin.

Many women acquire what are called summer freckles that appear almost immediately on exposure to the sun and disappear a little while after the victim stays in the house.

The best treatment for these summer freckles is to bathe them frequently with pure soap and water, using a good face brush and rubbing the freckles until they are almost irritated. This friction excites the circulation beneath the skin. A good cold cream should be applied after the scrubbing.
